

ENLIGHTMENTS

How can we rethink the way we learn and transmit knowledge? Teachers at the University of Aix-Marseille have come up with the answer by creating a unique degree: the Sciences et Humanités bachelor degree. Over a three-year period, after completing their baccalaureate, students will explore knowledge through a cross-disciplinary approach. By following four of them, from the first to the third year, the film unravels this subtle mechanism, which is not a given. For some, this complex exercise in thinking leads to a metamorphosis.
